The Sickles Trial.

Washington, April 11. Such is the anxiety to be present, to day, that boare the doors were open, the court room was crowded by persons who had ob-tained ingress through the windows. The points presented by Mr. Graham, on Saturday, were as follows: First, that the Government is bound to make out a case.-Second, that malice was not to be inferred, Store, but proved. Third, how far adultery was to be considered a provocation. Fourth, 100 Bags Prime Coffee, to be considered a provocation. Fourth manslaughter and not murder. Sixth, whother the frenzy natural to a husband, under the circumstances, does not operate as mental unsoundness. The seventh, which is to be considered, to-day, is, whether viewing the case as one of ungovernable passion, there was a sufficient time for the defendant's passion to cool, and for reason to get the better, and whether his subsequent acts were deliberate before the mortal wound was given. After the conclusion of Mr. Graham's arguments, Mr. Brady offered to prove the friendly relations existing between Sickles and the deceased, in March, and submitted a note from Key to him, with copies of others. Counsel for prosecution objected, and arguments followed. KYLNING BEPORT.

The Court ruled the letters out, except The Court ruled the letters out, except the single letter of Key. Mr. Brady took exceptions. The testimony for the defence then commenced. Wm. Badger of Philadelphia, Hon. John B. Haskins, of New York, and Daniel Daugherty, of Philadelphia, testified to the friendship existing between Sickles and Key. Mr. Haskins, in his testimony, said that Sickles told Key that he would see the Precident about have that he would see the President about has ing him reappointed to the office he held. He said he believed the President would appoint him. Key thanked him. The intipoint him. Key thanked him. The inti-macy between the two seemed to the witness to be that of the closest and dearest kind.— I saw Key and Mrs. Siekles together at the Opera; saw them speaking together. I told Sickles what I had heard; Sickles said that Key was a friend of his, and he had no objection to his visiting his house. The Court
